

Closure of registration

The Shipping Registration Act 1981 requires a ship's owner or registered agent to notify the Registrar of Ships immediately if a ship ceases to be entitled to be Australian registered or if the ship is lost, broken up or taken by an enemy. The documentation that is to be lodged is described below.

Ship ceases to be entitled

You must submit a:

- Notice by the owner that the ship has ceased to be entitled to be registered, together with details of the circumstances—including the name, address and nationality of the buyer.
- Certified or notarised copy of the bill of sale or other document that transferred ownership.

The Australian Registration Certificate must be returned to the Shipping Registration Office as soon as possible.

Ship is lost, etc

Notice by the owner describing the event that has occurred.

The Australian Registration Certificate must be returned to the Shipping Registration Office as soon as possible.

Closure for ship not required to be registered

Ships that belong to a class that is not required to be registered, may be deregistered upon lodgement of an application for closure (over leaf) made by the owner.

This applies only to:

- pleasure craft
- fishing vessels
- government-owned ships
- foreign-owned ship that are on demise (bare boat) charter to Australian operators
- ships that are less than 24 metres in overall length.

The owner must lodge the following documentation:

- an application for closure of registration of a ship not required to be registered

- a statutory declaration by the applicant stating their interest in the ship and date it was acquired
- the Australian Registration Certificate
- Bill of Sale—if application is being submitted by someone other than the registered owner.

Deletion certificates

Upon receipt of a written request together with the fee of A$111, a deletion certificate can be granted relating to a ship whose registration is closed. There is no provisional deletion certificate.

The deletion certificate comprises three documents:

- a certificate stating that the ship is not Australian registered and stating the circumstances of its closure of registration;
- a statement of the registered ownership in force at the time of closure; and
- the registered description of the ship at the time of closure.

Deletion certificates can be granted immediately after closure of registration, if the Registrar has received a written request and the fee.

Payment

The GST does not apply to services supplied by the Shipping Registration Office.
